

Recently named the Best Ob/Gyn practice of North Atlanta, Modern Ob/Gyn has always strived to set life-long relationships with each and every one of its patients. It is this patient-centered, compassionate care that has won Modern Ob/Gyn many awards over the years and guides its continued growth in our community. Founded by husband and wife team Drs. John and Ingrid Reyes, Modern Ob/Gyn continues to focus on not just the best in medical care, but also focuses on an excellent patient experience.

Pregnant patients can rest assured knowing that their Modern Ob/Gyn physician will personally deliver their baby, a service that few local Ob/Gyns are able to offer these days. The doctors of Modern Ob/Gyn make certain they can meet the expectations of their patients. Delivering any of your children is always a very special occasion. As much as possible, we feel that moment should be shared with someone you know. That's not a moment you want to be meeting a new doctor for the first time. The relationship a pregnant woman has with their delivering physician is so important in making the experience not only as safe as possible, but also a meaningful, positive experience. "We deliver only our own patients, there won't ever be a surprise when it comes time to delivery. Only the doctors of our practice will deliver you—this is often not the case with other practices," says Dr. Ingrid Reyes. "Finding the balance of safe, appropriate medical care with the personal, special relationship of obstetric care is what is so unique about this field. We all love getting to see these young families grow!"

Modern Ob/Gyn has also recently expanded its Johns Creek office to include a new state-of-the-art, minimally invasive surgical suite allowing patients significant cost and time-saving, a comfortable intimate environment on their surgery day, and faster recovery times. Minimally invasive procedures are almost always the best options for patients. Heavy bleeding and painful cycles can now be treated with same day convenient in-office procedures that require no downtime and can be done in the office. Modern Ob/Gyn dedicates its gynecologic practice to minimally invasive surgeries and is an experienced leader in our community for robotic gynecologic surgery. The physicians at Modern Ob/Gyn enjoy providing second opinions and consultations because they believe it is vital to make patients aware of their choices. "We really value educating our patients so they understand their medical issues, why certain treatments are better than others, and what their options are for treatment," said Dr. Ingrid.

Modern OBGYN is currently accepting new patients. To schedule an appointment at our Cumming or Johns Creek location, please call the office at 404-446-2496 or visit their website at www.reyesobgyn.com.
